A New Practice of Holy Listening to Scripture

Lectio Divina, Mondays at 5:00 pm

Encouraged by Cynthia Bourgault's visit, St. Mary's is now offering the ancient practice of holy listening to scripture called Lectio Divina from 5:00-5:30 pm, prior to our 5:30-6:00 pm Centering Prayer practice.

A passage from the upcoming Sunday lessons is read and in silent prayer we are gradually lead from mind to heart taking the word of God deeper and deeper into the Self.

We remember: Holy Scripture is a living document which is a history of an encounter with God that happened long ago, and one that continues to resonate and feed us in our own times. There is always treasure to be found for you.
